

U. S. Behind in Spy System

The army said today the United States is "already well behind" other major nations in building up an adequate spy and intelligence system.

It told U. S. troops that "for our own security... we must develop foresight through the strongest and most efficient intelligence and counter-intelligence service which American energy, ability and imagination can develop."

"There is no time to waste," it said, "for intelligence service on a world-wide basis takes years to develop and we are already well behind."

The army discussed the status of U. S. intelligence, espionage and anti-spy operations in a pamphlet, "Armed Forces Talk," which is distributed to U. S. troops throughout the world.

The pamphlet went over the entire field of intelligence. It reminded the soldiers that spy work by secret agents is only a minor part of the overall operation of obtaining political, economic and military information about potential enemies.

It said that fully 90 per cent of all valuable information is obtained by analyzing sources open to the public. These it said, include geographic studies, economic reports, business statistics and news stories.

The pamphlet said that, traditionally, the United States has failed "to develop strong, well-coordinated government agencies to perform the functions of intelligence and counter-intelligence."

In World Wars I and II, the army said, this country relied principally upon the intelligence reports of our Allies, chiefly the British. But now, it added, the situation has changed.

"The leading nation of the world," the army said, "we cannot afford to rely on others for

Un Arms Commission Finally Has Agreed That World Is Not Ready to Disarm

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The United Nations Arms Commission finally has reached the inevitable conclusion that the world isn't yet ready for arms reduction — that international tension must be ended before countries will be willing to slash armaments.

That is, 9 of the 11 nations on the commission have agreed on this point. The other two members — Soviet Russia and the Soviet Union — have refused to agree.

The Communists maintain that the way to create confidence is to disarm. The Western powers, on the other hand, hold that this is putting the cart before the horse.

They insist that peace and confidence are what will inspire disarmament. The majority hold that essentials for the establishment of world confidence include the following:

(1) Agreement on atomic control, (2) creation of a world police force and (3) signing of German and Japanese peace treaties.

While the commission was debating this momentous issue at Lake Success yesterday, Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery (chief of the Imperial General Staff and so England's top soldier) made some pointed remarks on the same subject. In a speech calling for 150,000 reserves to back up the country's defenses, the field marshal declared that "the best chance of avoiding war in modern times is to be prepared."

Montgomery was speaking to a British audience, but he was only reading the writing which all nations can see clearly on the wall.

His intelligence. Nor can we, in this age of atomic and air warfare, depend on our isolated position to insure our security against attack.

in New York, Jacob M. Lomakin.

Such an action is known to be under consideration by Marshall's top adviser in the State department.

In discussing the New York case, Marshall referred particularly to the affair of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina. She escaped from the Soviet consulate in New York last Thursday by jumping out of a third floor window.

Meanwhile, diplomatic authorities are puzzling over indications that the Soviet Union is closing all the schools it had operated in many countries for the children of its diplomats and other employees abroad.

It was in connection with the closing of such a school in New York that Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and her colleagues, Mr. and Mrs. Mokhai Samarin, decided they would prefer to stay in this country rather than go back to Russia.

But on July 31 more than 300 Soviet citizens — mostly school age children and their mothers — did sail from New York on the Russian motor ship Pobeda. Authorities here assume that a similar return to Russia is being required by the Soviet government of many hundreds of dependents of Russian diplomats and other employees around the world.

The Russian motive in all this is what has official Washington puzzled.

Most speculation centers on the possibility that the Soviets want to prevent the "contamination" of their school age children by any contact with Western Democratic ideas.

Another possibility often suggested by diplomats, however, is that by having the wives and children at home, the Soviets are endeavoring to make them hostages against any desire of Russian diplomats to renounce communism.

Very little credence is placed by officials here in the theory that discounting this idea is that the Russians are permitting childless families and those with only pre-school age children to remain abroad.

The Soviets operated two schools in this country, one in Washington and another in New York for the consulate staff and the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

Mrs. Kosenkina and the Samarins were teachers in the New York school. They were accused of espionage and were taken to the United States by the FBI.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Aug. 18 — (AP)—The stock market made a stab at higher prices today but with only fair success.

Final prices showed a fairly even mixture of small gains and losses.

Early buying held out the hope that yesterday's brisk upturn, the widest in some two weeks, would carry through. Demand soon lost its initial snap and the session turned into a slow dragging affair.

Selling pressure increased a bit toward the close.

Volume was around 650,000 shares.

Security traders found little in the news to work on. A number of operators were waiting for a turn in the Moscow talks before getting back into the market.

Holding up fairly all most of the session were Republic Steel, Studebaker, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott Copper, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, United Fruit, International Paper, Superior Oil of California, and Paramount.

Tending to slip off and on were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Union Corp., and Packard.

U. S. Government bonds tended upward.

Congress Is Called Model and Menace

By JOSEPH NOLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Janet's hazel eyes were wide with alarm when she beheld the assemblage, and she swayed slightly when she discovered all eyes intently on her.

"Mrs. Trappgood," Talent said, "when you came into this room on the night that Mrs. Sterling was murdered, were you frightened because you saw this man in here?" Talent gestured toward Biddle, the only one in the room who was seated.

"How could she see me when I was here?" Biddle demanded. "You don't recognize Mrs. Trappgood, Harry?" Talent asked.

"Never saw her in my life," Talent turned back to Janet. "Then what did frighten you, Mrs. Trappgood? What caused you to drop your cigarette?"

"Biddle's lips quivered but her voice did not respond.

Talent looked from her to Biddle. "Both of you were in this room that night," he said. "Biddle has explained what brought him here. Let me refresh your memory, Mrs. Trappgood, about that night six years ago. When you drove away from Edgewater Country Club at about 1:30, you told Marcus Sterling that you were going to settle accounts with Mrs. Sterling—that you were going to put your cards on the table. That was the last thing on Mr. Sterling's mind before he died last week. He had haunted him for six years, because he knew you had been in here.

Janet choked a scream of amazement. "So Marcus did believe that ... did think ...

"She brooded herself," resolutely. The color of her face gave way to a deep flush. "I'll tell you," she said quietly. "I never should have been afraid to tell Marcus.

"I did say that to Marcus, but it referred to some trivial difference between him and me. I don't even remember what it was. I had an intuition of discussion with him that night, but when I drove by here, on my way home, I saw lights in the library. I thought Biddle couldn't sleep because she was at home alone, so I stopped. I was about to ring the doorbell but my hand was on the knob and it turned because the door was unlocked. I stepped into the hall and called Biddle's name. There was no answer. I saw the lights in here and I came to the door, walked in. I thought Biddle had been reading and fallen asleep. Then I saw what had happened in here and I was afraid. My camera dropped from my fingers. I rushed out to my car and drove home. That was cowardly, of course, but that's what I did. I never said anything because I was afraid to have it known I was here."

"You were frightened by what you saw or here?"

"The open window, broken glass, the chair knocked over. Naturally, I could think only of her fate. I didn't know but what they might still be in the house. I only wanted to get out quickly."

"And the lights were on in the library, were they?"

"That was the only reason I stopped at that time of night."

Talent sighed down at Biddle then. "That got his back to me, Harry," he said softly. "You made one little overstatement, slip a whole lot. You told me what you had seen through the window. But I never saw anything because I was out there on the running board and what you saw. But you did see me in through the unlocked door and I thought you went away. You came in and pushed the door open in the hall and then turned on the lights in here. Then you came in here. Harry, if you hadn't done that, you couldn't have known that Biddle moved his hands off that little clock up to 1:30. You wouldn't have seen outside. But that's what you saw a sharp shadow in the hall, and it was that that had been slowly breaking him down."

"Okey, and I was in here," he said. "Why couldn't I come in and see to it that I didn't see anything?"

"And to think, after all the way about what Sterling was patterned on, you just went up to Mrs.

whose need for housing is most critical.

The Congress adjourned on Aug. 7. This action is properly listed among its accomplishments.

In other political developments: Truman—President Truman's advisers said he is considering a trip through the South late in October. He has been invited to the American Legion convention in Miami, but has not yet accepted the bid. If he does, his advisers expect him to make numerous back-platform appearances in states where his party leadership has been challenged by the Dixiecrats. The White House announced yesterday that Mr. Truman will make six speeches in all when he goes West around Labor Day. The main address will be in Detroit.

Dewey—GOP Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey indicated that he is ready to debate the issue of high prices if Mr. Truman would do it that way. Asked to comment on the president's denunciation of the Republican anti-inflation bill, Dewey replied that he had nothing to say. Then he added that he would not say his two-day conference on campaign planning with Gov. Earl Warren, his running mate, was "productive and illuminating." But he refused to divulge that plans they made regarding itineraries and general campaign policies.

Wyoming—Gov. Lester C. Hunt won an easy victory in a three-cornered race for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Wyoming. He will run in November against Sen. E. V. Robertson who was unopposed in the Republican primary. L. O. Fournier, an aide to Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, won the Democratic nomination for Congress. His opponent Nov. 2 will be Rep. Frank A. Barrett who also was unopposed in the GOP race.

Ohio—Henry A. Wallace's Progressive Party has been awarded a place on the November ballot. Secretary of State Edward J. Bremer ruled that the third party's petitions had enough valid signatures to qualify.

Bureaucratic Republican National Chairman Hugh Scott, Jr., said in Los Angeles that the GOP will campaign this fall "to redeem American constitutional government from the hands of reckless big game hunters." He estimated that the GOP will spend about $4,000,000 in the coming presidential and congressional campaigns.

Birds are internally air-conditioned, with every wing beat they create a draft from the air sacs that are attached to their lungs and replace it by new, cool air.

Birds are much like airplanes but they produce both lift and propulsion with their wings. Airplane propulsion is produced by the propeller and lift by the wings.

"Sterling's room, didn't you?"

"Sure I went on there. Why wouldn't I? Wouldn't I want to know what kind of a man Sterling was trying to get me in by giving me those drawings? So no you got something on me, Harry, or I wouldn't have said what I knew about Sterling jumping off his wife."

Talent frowned surprise. "Biddle didn't do that?"

"The one he did it. Who else?"

"You turned on the light in the room and saw it?"

"I didn't even believe Mrs. Sterling was in the room. Then I saw why Sterling came down from his bedroom like a deer."

"Biddle sat down. He looked at Biddle painfully. "So, Harry, you're mistaken. You're confused about it. Sterling hadn't killed his wife. You convinced him, your dad, a little while ago. You said you saw him sneak out of the room and down the door. So why didn't he come back? He didn't want her to see that he had robbed her safe. But you saw him and you saw Biddle sitting in his chair, looking at his mother's portrait on the wall."

"You wanted to make sure you could keep those drawings, and as you have kept them, didn't you? That put a great temptation on you. You were sitting there, on the spot, and that you could even tell him you had seen him. That he could never find out that he had never seen you of anything."

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Severe hay fever is no joke. For this reason, doctors have become more and more interested in the disease and methods of curing or relieving it.

Complete cure is sometimes obtained by "shots"—the injections of pollen-moisture before the onset of the hay fever season.

Several new drugs have been developed and are being studied as a means of producing temporary relief from the symptoms of hay fever and of other allergies. Among the drugs which have received a great amount of study in recent years are benadryl, pyribenzamine and antihistamin.

Varied Results

Each of these drugs appears to have some advantages and some disadvantages. Each seems useful for some patients and not for others, and each is more useful for some kinds of allergic conditions than for others.

Benadryl, usually mild, have been reported from most of them. Benadryl, for example, causes sleepiness in some people.

Antihistamin seems to be weaker in some respects than either of the other two drugs. According to a recent report, its greatest usefulness is in relieving recurrent attacks of hives and certain kinds of allergic skin conditions. All of these drugs, and some other similar preparations, have some value in most forms of hay fever, although the effects are not always desirable.

The development of these powerful aids to the fight on hay fever is a fine thing. Their use may have certain drawbacks, however, and they are not substances which should be taken without due respect and caution.

Until further work has been done on them, they should be taken only under the advice of a physician, and it should be remembered that they will only give temporary relief and not a permanent cure.

DOROTHY DIX

Stingy Husband

Dear Dorothy Dix: Before I married I was a successful business woman, earning a good salary. I was happy because I had something interesting to do and because I could help my family, who are very poor.

Three years ago I got married and my husband absolutely refuses to let me work outside of my home. I am well and strong and we have no children, and I am miserable because time hangs so heavily on my hands. I would love to be able to go back to work in order to be able to help my family, who are actually hungry. When I sit down to my table to eat, my food chokes me, because I know my relatives are starving.

My husband makes a good living but he will not give me a dollar to help my people. Don't you think this is mean of him?

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE

Answer: It is very mean and cruel of your husband not to give you the money to help your people who need it so badly, but if he will not do it he certainly should not object to your going to work and earning it yourself.

Strange that a man should think that when a woman marries she severs all the ties of blood, and that she no longer aches with the sorrows of her own family! Strange that a man should think that a woman could be tender and loving

'Assigned Risk' Clause in Cab Insurance, Rapped

Little Rock, Aug. 18 (AP)—An "assigned risk" procedure in writing of liability insurance for taxicab operators has been attacked in U. S. District court here.

Under the "assigned risk" method, an insurance company is allotted taxicab coverage, required by an Act of the 1947 Arkansas General Assembly, in proportion to the total amount of its Arkansas coverage, thus spreading the risk.

Naming 51 casualty insurance companies among the defendants, Fred U. Andres, North Little Rock, cab operator charged the agreement between the insurers constituted a "conspiracy in restraint of trade" in interstate commerce.

He asked that he be awarded $5,277 damages, an order halting use of "assigned risk," and an order preventing his insurer, the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, from canceling his policy.

Andres owns the Little Rock Transportation Company, which operates a fleet of 19 taxicabs.

New York, Aug. 16.—The tough language and the practical gangsterism of the Russians mark a change so dangerous that suppression of thoughts upon the possibility of war would be a repetition of the British mistake at the time of Munich. Governor Dewey recently said "we must not even think of war." He may have been right at the time. Now we had better think about war.

The Russians' attitude and the official conduct of her generals, diplomats and spies have been consistently more and more belligerent ever since the Potsdam conference. We are now reduced to the status of a weak Balkan country in the Russian estimate.

Her contempt is shown by the open defiance of our laws and our courts in our own country and the frank threat to punish the United States because our Congress has failed to investigate Russian espionage. They never spoke thus until they were ready to move into the phase of provocation which preceded the breach of diplomatic relations and war. These relations an advantage to Russia from 1933 down to the present. Hereafter, the Soviets would be better off and we would be worse off as diplomatic strangers. They could continue their spying, and Communist riots on picket lines could be developed into serious civil war in the city of New York at least.

Meanwhile, the development of political confusion and turbulence is proceeding through the agency of Henry Wallace's party. This, too, probably will produce street fighting before election day. Such would be the sequence of phases as we observed them.

When the Communist minorities in European countries were weakening revolution, they are not duplicating here the first rough acts of the Russian revolution, but with dangerous words and phrases, put us on warning that riots would come when he remarked, in a speech last May, that the Communists must expect to be set upon for their ideas. The chief night William Calhoun, the man who takes the cash collections, incited the Communists to make a riot at a movie called "The Iron Road." Accordingly, a gang of men left the meeting and put on a light against a group of war veterans identified as Catholics.

The recent stunning disclosures about the Communist penetration of some of the most influential of the United States government by the Communists who have confessed or refused to answer questions that no loyal American would hesitate to answer, again follow the course of Soviet penetration of the debilitated native government in the Balkans. Thousands have seen this movie. Thousands have seen this movie. Thousands have seen this movie.

A smaller scale in unions of the C. I. O. which were controlled by Communists. Philip Murray, now a traitor in his abhorrence of the traitors, knew them, then and took no action against them. John L. Lewis had openly worked with them before Murray became president of the C. I. O. Eleanor Roosevelt will trim and squirm, but she knew that the issue in the Newspaper Guild was American principles and America versus communism and agents of the Kremlin. But all that the American ever got from her were belittlement, contempt and the worst of it.

We have a law which, in time of declared war, permits us to throw into concentration camps all persons who seem to the military authority to be dangerous for any reason. The Supreme Court has upheld this law in the actual time of war, this law could be amended so as to permit the imprisonment of most of the known and potential pro-Russian traitors and other anti-American agents who swarm in New York and Hollywood and are found in sparser numbers elsewhere. The court deliberately louted intelligence in ruling that this law did not constitute racial selection of such persons, as it certainly did, but that distinction by the court is advantageous now. No matter what the "race" or "color" of the traitors and spies locked up, plea of discrimination can prevail against don't solemn judgment. The rosters of the Communist and Wallace parties and the American Labor Party of New York would be useful directories in an amendment including this authority of the military commanders to any international situation equal to that now existing between the United States and Russia.

And better now than too late, capital punishment for treason as defined by the constitution could be extended to treason in favor of any nation with which we find ourselves in a cold war. Persons who permit themselves to believe that it isn't as bad as all this are ill informed. The high treason of late in having enabled shipments to Russia of stuff used in the atomic bomb was Henry Wallace. He once told me that he would do "anything" to keep Russia in the war against Hitler when Hitler was Russia's only enemy. Why would it have been necessary for the vice president of the United States to do "anything" to induce Russia to fight Hitler? Wallace passed by legal authority to do as he did. If not treason, what was it? The Department of Justice or State would create an illusion of law to justify whatever he did. We never have been told where he went or what he did for a spell of about two weeks to his mysterious trip to Siberia and China during the war. He is a future fellow.

The F. B. I. reported to President Truman years ago that the wife of one of Wallace's close workers was a courier spy for Russia during the war and carried packages from spies on the New York waterfront to Russian agents in North Africa. She was employed as a highly confidential agent in an American counter-espionage service. Today she is campaigning openly in American politics for the candidate of the Kremlin. Truman has this report on his desk for years along with all the other information which has been gushing out in the hearings in the last two weeks.

He tacitly admits that he had it but defends his suppression of truth on the grounds that a grand jury which heard it refused to indict.

The president of the United States is merely trying to cover up his own guilt and the awful guilt of his predecessor who pardoned this disaster by patronizing and helping the treason and rioting and punishing in every way he could all those who tried to dig up the evidence.

The fact that the grand jury didn't indict does not mean that it found no guilt. The grand jury found an appalling situation capable of total disaster to the United States. But it also found that we had provided no laws to protect ourselves from Roosevelt's policies, the Russian and Chinese, in other words, such treason and crime are legal.

Kiner Doesn't Want to Break Babe's Record

(Pittsburgh, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Ralph Kiner leaves to sock homers, out he hopes the record of 60 in a season stands—as a monument to the now immortal Babe Ruth.

"Naturally I'd like to hit a zillion home runs in a week or a season," commented the young Pittsburgh Pirate slugger. "But somehow I wouldn't be very happy if I ever got in a position where I might break the Babe's record. That 60 is synonymous with Ruth."

Kiner, current home run leader in the National League, hit his 31st round tripper of the season in the ninth inning last night to give the Pirates a 4-3 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Hendrich Hits Grand Slam Homer

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Trinity Hendrich, "Mr. Old Reliable" of the New York Yankees, earned a space in the little red book of base ball today by smashing his fourth grand slam home run of the season.

Only five other players have hit four grand slams in one during the 1938 season. Hendrich was the one campaign. They were: Phil Schulte, Chicago Cubs, 1911; the one and only Babe Ruth, Boston Red Sox, 1919; Lou Gehrig, Yankees 1934; Rudy York, Detroit Tigers, 1938; and Vince Di Maggio, Philadelphia Phils, 1945.

Hendrich's fourth last night helped the Yankees defeat the Washington Senators, 9-1, at Griffith Stadium. The blow came in the third inning off lanky Sid Hudson and paved the way for young Bob Porterfield's first major league victory.

The Yankee victory put a dent in ceremonies honoring Washington owner Clark Griffith. Among the dignitaries and Capitol officials present was President Truman, who sat through the entire game. Cleveland defeated the Browns, 8-0 in Cleveland.

Lefty Gene Bearden pitched the Indians to their sixth straight triumph, holding the Browns hitless until the fifth inning and allowing only four hits the rest of the way. And it made Bearden a man of distinction on the Tribe staff.

Feller, who has also won 12 games, has lost 12. Common, top winner with 16 games, has lost 10. The Indians blasted Starter Bill Kennedy, a former Indian, from the mound with six runs in the fifth.

The triumph put the Indians two full games ahead of the second place Philadelphia Athletics and three above Boston. The latter two teams were rained out after the A's had taken a 2-0 lead in only an inning and a half of play.

Rookie Red, who won his third straight game in as many starts as the Detroit Tigers staved off a late Chicago rally to turn back the White Sox, 6-4. Gray needed an over from Virgil Trucks and Stubby Overmire when White Sox rose up for three runs.

The Boston Braves held their two-game edge on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the tight National League race, scalp the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, 10-2. Big Bill Voiselle turned his former teammates with six hits for his fourth victory over an easy 10-1 victory.

The only afternoon contest of the season, Johnny Schemm, turned the Chicago Cubs for a 4-2 victory over the third place St. Louis Cardinals. Home runs by Stan Musial and Don Lang accounted for the Cardinals' runs. It was Musial's No. 30.

Ralph Kiner unloaded his 31st home run against the left field bleachers with two out in the last half of the ninth to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Lanky, Ewell Blackwell was charged with his ninth defeat.

Step on it, Babe," they barked from below.

The Yankees should repent, the Bambino continued quietly under the expert prodding. Washington should be the toughest opposition but that new manager, Joe Cronin, was mighty young.

Then it was over—the written questions were exhausted.

"Thanks, Mr. Ruth," the young man said.

Any time, Kid," the Babe answered. He picked his way carefully down the rows of seats to the field.

It was just a little thing, perhaps. But it made a lasting impression on the boy who got his interview. And it happened just like that. I still have the clipping. You see, it was my first by-line.

Boys Pray For Ruth

Sorrowful boys at St. Mary's Industrial School kneel at the altar in the school's chapel to pray after they were informed that Babe Ruth, a graduate of the institution and one of its greatest benefactors, had died. In center is Brother Herbert who taught at the school when Babe Ruth was there.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
By WILL GRIMSLEY
(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Babe was a big man with a big wallop but there are thousands who will remember him more for the little things he did along the way. A little gesture here and there. A lift for the little guy.

Such as the time he held up an exhibition game 15 minutes while he accommodated a fledgling reporter on his first major assignment.

The date was April 4, 1932. The World Champion Yankees were swinging north after breaking spring camp. Marce Joe McGraw brought them into Nashville, Tenn., with a flourish.

Babe Ruth's best playing days were behind him but his was still the magic name of baseball.

The youngster was told to get an interview with the Bambino—a personality piece, find out what the Babe eats, thinks, likes.

Shortly before game time, a taxi screeched up. The big man hopped out. He was in uniform, stocking-footed, carrying his spiked shoes in his hand.

"Shoot, Kid," the Babe said pleasantly. He took a comfortable leaning position on the rail.

The Babe said he didn't think the three per cent beer, just legalised, would affect the game any. In fact he liked a bit of the foam himself occasionally.

His favorite movie actor was George Bancroft and his favorite actress, Janet Gaynor. Favorite pastime? Why, hunting—rather shoot birds in the air than on the links.

The biggest thrill? The home run hit into the centerfield bleachers at Wrigley Field in the World Series the year before. Favorite food, quail.

"Hey, Babe, come on, it's time to start," his mates yelled from the field.

The Bambino gave a "gwan" gesture and said: "Okay, Kid, anything else?"

There were more questions. The Babe, under heavy pressure from the field and from the fans, appeared in a daze.

No, he said, he didn't believe any present-day player would beat his home record, not even Jimmy Fox. Best pitchers? Lefty Gomez and Lefty Grove.

Step on it, Babe," they barked from below.

The Yankees should repent, the Bambino continued quietly under the expert prodding. Washington should be the toughest opposition but that new manager, Joe Cronin, was mighty young.

Then it was over—the written questions were exhausted.

"Thanks, Mr. Ruth," the young man said.

Welterweights to Meet Tonight

Chicago, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Bernard Dossan, the New Orleans welterweight, battler, and Gene Burton, a top flight New York boxer, have another figured out, they said today.

That meant the two of them should have a number one brawl in Comiskey Park tonight.

It will be the third fight between the two, and it's the rubber match. Burton won their first brawl by a 10 round decision at Los Angeles while last December Dossan evaded it up with a decision in Madison Square Garden.

60 Injured in Train Wreck in North Dakota

Rugby, N. D., Aug. 17.—(AP)—About 60 persons were injured when ten cars of the Great Northern Railway's westbound Oriental Limited left the tracks near this Northwestern North Dakota town last night.

Thirty-five of the injured were brought to this hospital here but early today only two were listed as in critical condition. About 25 others were given first aid at the scene of the accident.

Three coaches, three sleepers and two baggage cars, a baggage car and a sleeper for train crew members also left the tracks but remained upright.

The eight cars at the back of the train remained on the tracks. Uninjured passengers and rescue workers from Rugby and Minot, 66 miles to the west, removed injured from the first coach.

Passengers and trainmen agreed that the train was running rather slowly at the time of the accident. A trainman estimated the speed at around 45 miles an hour.

Soviet Delegation In Havana Is Attacked

Havana, Aug. 18 (UP)—Police reported today that a carload of attackers hurled a gasoline-filled bottle into the compound of the Russian legation last night, setting the garden ablaze. No damage or injuries were reported.

The bottle was thrown from an automobile that passed the legation at high speed, police said. The attackers escaped.

McClellan to Go Along With the Party

Little Rock, Aug. 18 —(AP)—Senator McClellan will "go along" with the Democratic party in Arkansas "in whatever course it pursues at the state convention."

The senator, who made the statement here in an interview yesterday, didn't elaborate but apparently that means he'll vote for the regular Democratic presidential ticket or for the Dixiecrat ticket depending on the stand the convention takes.

The Phillips county Democratic convention has instructed its delegates to seek state convention action to pledge Arkansas democratic electoral candidates to the Dixiecrats ticket of Gov. Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright.

So far no other organized Democratic body in the state has expressed similar opposition to the regular Democratic ticket of President Truman and Kentucky Senator Alben Barkley.

Arkansas' senior senator refused to comment on the still-mouldering Democratic gubernatorial contest between Sidney McMath and Jack Holt, whom McClellan defeated for senator in 1942.

McMath became the Democratic nominee by some 10,000 votes in record balloting, but Holt:

(1) insists he rightfully should have been the nominee.

(2) May be induced by a "draft Holt" movement to run as an independent or as a Dixiecrat in November.

Holt, former Arkansas attorney general, declared last night McMath wasn't even a Democrat because candidates allied with him were elected as independents in Garland county and 18th judicial district in 1946 (even though the courts later declared them the regular Democratic nominees).

Holt added two other contentions: He was refused a recount of the Aug. 10 runoff vote "in a majority of the counties where I requested such action," and the 21,052 difference between the total gubernatorial vote and the next highest total vote for a contested state office "represented the Negro vote for McMath."

Attorney General Guy E. Williams yesterday held that the only persons entitled to cast "maiden votes without possession of a poll tax receipt in the Nov. 2 general election are those who will have become 21 after Oct. 1, last day for payment of a poll tax authorizing a vote in any election in the following year.

Pulaski Takes No Action on an Independent

Little Rock, Aug. 18 —(AP)—The Pulaski County Democratic convention here Monday took no action concerning possible independent candidates in the November general election, the convention secretary says.

The secretary, Paul L. Barnard, said convention Chairman Donald K. Hawthorne indicated his opposition to possible independents in remarks to the meeting. A few other members expressed approval from the floor, and there was applause Barnard added.

Mrs. Garner died yesterday afternoon at the family home, after an illness of several years.

She had been in a coma since early Monday. Her son, Tully, said she died in her sleep.

At the bedside were her husband, her son, two nurses and a priest.

This is the place where, charges Soviet Consul General Jacob Lomakin, two Russian-born school teachers were held by "White Russian bandits." It's Reed Farm, Valley Cottage, N. Y., a 70-acre haven for 100 Russian DP's, run by the Tolstoy Foundation. Here, some of the girls learn American rope-jumping from Vera Bohan of New York City.

General Election Candidates Must File by October 13

Little Rock, Aug. 18 —(AP)—Names of candidates in the November general election in Arkansas must be filed with the secretary of state between Sept. 3 and Oct. 13.

The dates were set today in an opinion by Attorney General Guy E. Williams to Secretary of State C. G. Hall.

Williams said the law provides that candidates for nomination by party primary or convention cannot be filed with the secretary of state more than 60 days or less than 20 days before the general election.

Nominations by petition also must be filed within these dates. Such nominations are expected to be sought for presidential electors by Henry Wallace's new Progressive Party and States Rights Democratic candidates.

Any independent candidate also would come under regulations governing nominations by petition.

The attorney general recently ruled that states voters may call on the ballot as a new party or petition. A move is underway, however, to have states right-of-first refusal election approved by the Arkansas Democratic convention.

Petitions for nomination must bear signatures of at least 50 and not more than 1,000 qualified voters.

A bill, which would of itself be a new party or petition, is now in the legislature. It would have states right-of-first refusal election approved by the Arkansas Democratic convention.

Court to Decide Suit Against Stadium Workers

Little Rock, Aug. 18 —(AP)—A court order may decide whether renovation work on continue on the War Memorial building here.

A suit was filed yesterday asking the Pulaski Chancery court to enjoin a Little Rock firm from going ahead with its work on the building.

W. J. McCain, former Arkansas Labor Commissioner, filed the suit, charging the seven members of the State Commemorative Commission are holding office illegally. He said they failed to take the proper oath of office.

McCain also asked the court to enjoin the commission from using any of the $150,000 appropriated for the project.

Four-Power Talks Are Nearing End

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Aug. 18 —(AP)—The four power talks in Moscow about Berlin and Germany are nearing an end.

This was learned today on excellent authority from a source who refused to say whether the conversations would or would not end with published agreements.

One thing, however, appears certain: that there will be four power talks on a high level on the German problem as a whole at some future date.

There certainly will be another meeting of the United States, Britain and France with the Soviets this week, probably on Friday. There is nothing definite on whether this is to be the last or next to last conference, but the end is being bared some unexpected development.

The three western envoys have put in some long hours and hard work in and between their six talks with Molotov since July 31.

It is interesting to note that while progress had been made, there is neither optimism nor pessimism being expressed at any of the three embassies.

"One must wait," it was said, "until final terms are in and definitely settled. It is pointless at this time to waver either way on conclusions."

It should be pointed out that although the four powers may reach some decision here, that does not necessarily mean a published agreement will appear at the close of the talks.

Technicalities are believed to be holding up agreements although it can be reported on good authority that progress has been made.

The three embassies are remaining silent officially on all details of what is taking place at the meetings or on what is being discussed.

The U. S. embassy is refusing, as it has all through the talks, to say or confirm or even to comment on reports emanating here and abroad.

However, from another authoritative source it is learned that one of the principal stumbling blocks is the idea of a western German government and the action on that by the six western powers at London.

It is no secret now this question displeases the Russians and to what extent their feelings have been aroused on the matter, Berlin, it is said, still remains a problem, but not so complex as one as might be believed. The three western powers and the Soviets are not too far apart on this subject, it is reported.

An American embassy source said there almost certainly would be no four-power meeting in the Kremlin today, and probably none tomorrow.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith conferred at the French embassy today with French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau.

Continue Search for Florida 'Sex' Slayer

Ormond, Fla., Aug. 18 —(UP)—Florida officers concentrated today on their search for a tall, white "sex maniac" and his small companion in a double murder on Ormond Beach Saturday night after other suspects were released after questioning.

State Troopers joined county authorities in a hunt for the killers of Mary Hucks, 24-year-old Atlanta secretary and her companion, Gregory Blount, 23, of Lexington, Kentucky.

Four white men held as suspects in Sarasota, Fla., were released yesterday after Volusia County Sheriff Alex Littlefield questioned them. He said he was convinced they "had no connection with the murders," although they had in their possession a .22 calibre pistol, the same type weapon used by the killers.

Five Negroes were also questioned and released since the bodies were found on the beach here shortly before midnight Saturday. The girl had been raped and slain after her companion was shot through the head.

The search narrowed to the six-foot-tall "nervous" man who hid up his torn bloodstained clothing at a hotel here within hours of the murder and drove off in a big sedan with a smaller companion.

Residents of the Ormond Beach and Daytona areas and persons in other sections of the state kept a flood of tips flowing into the sheriff's office, most of them reporting that a man fitting the general description of the tall killer had been seen.

A total of 37 state and county officers were kept busy checking into every tip, but no other arrests were made.

Rash of Fires Traced to Fly Spray

Macomb, Ill., Aug. 18 —(AP)—The rash of mysterious fires that has chased the Charles Willey family from building to building on their farm is continuing to plague them, they reported today.

Within the last 10 days the fires drove them from their house to a garage and destroyed the house and a barn. Last night a new fire drove them from a temporary dining room in the barn to the main house.

Paper attached to the inside of the milk house to shut out the wind burst into flame while the family was inside the room. However, damage was slight.

One theory under consideration, but far from conclusive, is that a fly spray used on the farm 12 miles south of Macomb might be responsible for the outbreak of between 100 and 200 small fires in the Willey home.

Journal obtained a quantity of the spray, poured it on the ground and touched a match to it. He reported it was "highly inflammable."

The fires began breaking out about ten days ago and were extinguished by the Willey family, aided by neighbors. As they grew more frequent the family moved from the house to the garage. The house was destroyed by fire Saturday night and the barn burned down Monday.

Willey was unable to determine what caused the fires. He said he has no enemies. His insurance on the buildings was well below their replacement cost.

China on Verge of Returning to Dictatorship

By FRED HAMPSON
Washington, Aug. 18 —(AP)—China, a constitutional democracy still shaky, now was reported today on the verge of returning to a dictatorship, but the report was denied officially in Nanking.

The young China party newspaper said in a joint dispatch from Nanking and Kiating, the summer capital, that President Chiang Kai-shek would assume absolute power and rule by decree.

Asked about this report in Nanking, government spokesman Hollington Tong declared: "That report is untrue."

China has been in Kiating for some time talking with high civilian and military authorities. Speculation that he might assume dictatorial powers has been afloat in Nanking for a week.

The report apparently picked up impetus from action of the executive Yuan cabinet, which earlier in the day handed strikes and student demonstrations.
